At Gallagher Family Funeral Directors, we believe a funeral should be where you dictate your wishes, and we will never offer anything you do not want.

This is understandably a difficult time, but it's worth contacting at least two businesses so you can compare the services they offer and all the costs involved, as no two funerals or funeral directors are the same.

Our team of funeral directors will listen to you, making you feel at ease and will help to make the process of arranging a funeral easier and more bearable.

We will support and guide you in considering all your choices, allowing you to make the decision of what is right for you, your family and friends.

HOW CAN I MAKE PLANNING AHEAD EASIER FOR MY FAMILY?

FUNERAL PLANS FROM
Golden Charter
Smart Planning for Later Life

A funeral plan is an easy way to arrange the funeral you want in advance. A plan allows you to specify your wishes and pay for the funeral director's services included in your plan. As our customers often tell us, that can bring peace of mind to you and your family.

We work in partnership with Golden Charter to provide you with a safe and reliable way to plan ahead.

We'll take the time to understand your wishes and tailor a plan to suit you. We can discuss these at our premises or in your home, at a time that is convenient for you.

HOME FUNERAL

Arranging and planning a funeral independently can be a rewarding and lasting memory to your loved one.

Some families want to care for the person who has passed away at home and make all the funeral arrangements without the services of a funeral director.

A home funeral provides families a slowed down, carefully planned, more affordable, hands-on experience. The significant difference with a home funeral is that you are able to stay in control of the process. You can choose where and when you hold the funeral and create a very personal ceremony which honours the life of your loved one.

Your loved one may have died at home and they may have left specific wishes to remain at home until the day of committal. There's no legal requirement for a funeral director to be involved in the care and arrangements. You may wish to coordinate all the planning of the funeral from completion of statutory paperwork, care and presentation of your loved one to the purchase of the coffin.

Our team are able to support, advise and guide you through your own arrangements. Please contact our team if they can be of any assistance.

WHAT HAPPENS NEXT

If you feel that we might be the right people to support you in planning a funeral, then the first thing to do is get in touch. We'll ask you a few simple questions and then arrange a meeting with your funeral director.

What we'll ask when you call

We'll take your details, and ask the name of the person who has passed away and where they are resting, whether you've registered the death and if the coroner is involved. We'll also talk about where you are in the process and begin to understand what you would like. You can ask us any questions you may have at this point.

Arranging to meet us

You can come to our arranging room at Airedale House, set up a video call or we can visit you at your home.

What happens at the meeting?

We can organise almost everything at the first appointment that will take approximately one hour. We'll prepare as much paperwork as we can in advance, so that when we meet we can spend time understanding your needs and talking you through your options. We can then book or arrange everything you know you'd like - but there's no hurry, we always plan things at your pace, so if you need more time to prepare, process or make decisions, that's what we'll do.
